FLAC Player and Transcoder v1.2.4610 Crack updated. Share2. JavaScript get all Object (Array) properties I want to get all the properties of an object (Array) which contains other Objects (Arrays). Here is my code: var obj = new Array(); obj = { foo: new Array("foo1", "foo2"), bar: new Array("bar1", "bar2") }; function filterProperties(object, filter) { var obj = {}; var key; for (key in object) { if (object.hasOwnProperty(key)) { obj[key] = object[key]; } } return obj; } filterProperties(obj, {foo: true}); This gives the following result: Object {foo: Array[2]} Is there a different and better way to do this? A: You need to copy the object values to a new object, not assign it to a reference variable in the filterProperties callback. function filterProperties(object, filter) { var obj = {}; var key; for (key in object) { if (object.hasOwnProperty(key)) { obj[key] = object[key]; } } return obj; } Because you have used an arrow function, your parameter list is optional, and for the same reason, an anonymous object can be used for the filter argument. This is a useful pattern for creating more concise functions, and it's how filterProperties is used to return a filtered object in the original question, where the this keyword is used to access the object.
