I had a request for someone to remove windows xp from my computer. However, I did not install an antivirus program and I don't want to have to use that software. How can I remove the xp installation completely? The install video is supposed to be a very short video. So in an effort to save bandwidth I tried to cut out the unnecessary details and just upload it with what I think is necessary for a basic user to use. With that being said, there are still some problems I did have with the install. Firstly, when I was installing the OS the option to resize the screen to 4K only allowed me to change it to 4K x 4K, and it looked like this: I wanted to change it to 4K x 2K like the install video has it. It is still possible to change the 4K settings, but the option is in gray and not active. Secondly, I was getting some annoying sounds while playing Super Smash Flash 3D. It could be that it was just a fluke, but I noticed that when I turned off the speakers my game was frozen. Lastly, I noticed that there were some of the logo's in the game that were incorrect. When I tried to play the games by themselves they worked fine, but when the game is used in full screen mode, then the logo was all scrambled. I had also been getting some glitch type of effect during a match, but I don't think it was directly related to the install as the same problems happened when I tried to use the game on the live service. I tried to start the ubuntu installation on my laptop but it didnt work, the screen went black and there were some strange sounds. And a small 77a5ca646e
