How can I solve it? If it is possible, please help me by giving me the code or just a hint, Thanks in advance. A: You can try removing the extra whitespace from your second if statement, and then remove the extra if statement altogether. `def average_times(s1, s2): if s1.isdigit() and s2.isdigit(): return float(s1) + float(s2) / 2 if s1.isdigit() or s2.isdigit(): return float(s1) + float(s2) / 2 answer = average_times(num_one, num_two) print (answer) "It's the ultimate honor," Parillo said. "I think it's really cool because it's in Switzerland, it's in a castle, it's a pretty amazing venue, so it's kind of the best of what I've seen and I think I've been really lucky in the mix I've been in. I got to see it in Amsterdam, I saw it in Croatia last year, I saw it in Italy this year, it's pretty cool to see it in Switzerland."Q: C# - A continuous loop that will delete every item on a list I have a list that I have designed to house the contents of an IDD card. The list reads something like this: 1) Name 2) Street Address 3) City 4) State 5) ZIP Code 6) ID Number 7) Expiration Date 8) Social Security Number And so on... I want to make a program where if the user types an ID number, and hits enter, the program will delete the correct item on the list. Here is what I have so far: System.IO.StreamReader keyreader = new StreamReader("F:\ID card.txt"); string textline = keyreader.ReadLine(); textline = textline.Replace("\r", "").Replace(" ", ""); while (!text Occ13bf012`

The Acer will give you some pop up messages like enter a password, ok, then you have to enter your Acer's login password.. good luck.. P.S. Sorry for my bad english. My mom is german and knows little english ;-)
