A scoping review of patient-centred care in end of life care. Patients with advanced cancer experience many needs in the last days of their lives. Care that attends to these needs is part of the end of life care (EOLC) sector. Patient-centred care (PCC) is a model of care that has been suggested to support the provision of adequate EOLC, and is found in both the non-clinical and the clinical setting. A scoping review of the literature was undertaken to determine the current state of evidence of the use of PCC in EOLC. Of 823 studies identified in our search, 18 were included. Seventeen focused on the clinical setting, one addressed PCC in palliative care, and two were multi-setting studies. Thematic analysis of the papers showed that PCC is most commonly used to support communication skills. Themes related to patient care, and the design of PCC and the implications for future research were also identified. The review provides an initial exploration of the concepts and practices of PCC in the context of EOLC. Despite the limited nature of the evidence for PCC in EOLC, there appears to be a positive relationship between PCC and EOLC. As PCC is shown to be an effective model of care for patients with cancer and the wider palliative care population, there is a clear need for more evidence of PCC in the context of EOLC.

Q: Editing child RTF files using InDesign CC How can you edit a child file in RTF format when using InDesign CC 2019? I need to edit the child document and change the text and format and fonts. All the parent files are in RTF format, but for the child documents the files are Word format. This has caused a lot of hassle.

A: InDesign CC 2019 does not support changing the format of a linked file so you can change only the text and formatting and leave the format to the linked file, only the text and formatting. Go back and change the format of the linked file.
